1	It was actually funny to realize how little Morgan knew about how much things cost and how much money it takes to provide food, education, clothing, and a house.	5/3/2021 1:38 PM
2	I am glad this simulation was offered to students. I believe it is very important to teach personal finance in school as well as at home. I wish there were more communications about this project. I only recall receiving the initial parent letter at the start of the simulation. My child chose to work through this on her own... not asking for help from us so I feel as though I was not aware of what she was working on at any particular point. More frequent communications may have helped me, as a parent, spark conversations about the project with my child. Although this assignment proved to be quite challenging for my child, it is my hope that the lessons taught in this simulation will help her to make responsible financial decisions in the future.	4/30/2021 8:39 PM
3	My child has not shared one aspect of this project with me	4/29/2021 10:27 PM
4	Thank you for creating a real-world experience for Lauren.	4/29/2021 8:13 PM
5	Thank you for providing a real-world, practical experience for the students.	4/29/2021 5:14 PM
6	I completely support this program. My child had never shown interest nor had she payed attention when this is talked at home. Hope this continues because it brings real life scenarios they are responsible for and accountable during the class	4/29/2021 4:40 PM
7	Thanks for keeping it going Anne! Should be part of every senior class schedule!	4/29/2021 3:27 PM
8	Sounds like a great program and glad to hear it was part of the curriculum. I am a fan even though I knew nothing about it. Hopefully my wife knew about it.	4/29/2021 2:56 PM
9	In my opinion, this has been the most valuable real-life introduction my child has received at CCHS. The importance and realism of managing money and balance in your life as an adult that warrants this kind of simulation. We had the best conversations because of this program. She even thanked us a few times for several things because she had no idea the burden and sacrifice their spending habits affect the family as a whole. This is a LIFE SKILL that these kids MUST learn and these skills need to be focused on in school as a learning experience. Thank you for doing this. I'm so glad my daughter was able to participate in this program. It's a MUST have!!	4/29/2021 1:45 PM
10	Discussed project at inception, but didn't hear much about it after that.	4/29/2021 12:40 PM
11	Great exercise for my kids! Thank you!!	4/29/2021 12:22 PM
12	Thank you for involving my child in the budget challenge. I feel it was a very worthwhile learning experience. It often came up in our dinner conversation!	4/29/2021 12:08 PM
13	I think the challenge was beneficial in that it educated my child about real world finances and promoted at home discussions. She was frustrated by the way the end results were tabulated, however, as it rewarded decision making that definitely did not reflect how responsible budgeting works in the real world. Specifically in regards to having all money left over in a 401k account by unrealistically cheating the system. Having money left in savings - which in the real world is desirable for living expenses, emergencies, etc. worked against the final tabulation. My student decided to stick as closely to a real world budget as possible and it worked against her in the final results.	4/29/2021 12:01 PM
14	My daughter loved this project and I feel like it was able to shed some real understanding about many important financial issues she will be facing in the near future. Thank you for exposing her to this, and for all the hard work that goes into all of your planning!	4/29/2021 11:58 AM
